

Membership Overview

For more than 20 years, Grain Foods Foundation (GFF) has been committed to science and communications that support our mission: advancing the grain foods category by educating industry stakeholders, health influencers and consumers about the benefits of grain-based foods.

How GFF Can Help Your Business

Tools and Resources You Can Use

- Insights and perspectives through newsletters, updates and webinars
- Industry education through trusted speakers' bureau
- Ready-use digital and PR assets
- Workforce education sessions designed specifically for your needs
- Internal and external messaging and POVs
- Reputation and issues management support

Scientific Education and Grain Foods Research Expertise

- Access to multidisciplinary expert scientific advisory board with trusted thought leaders and researchers
- Ongoing nutrition research through our sister organization, Grain Foods Research Institute
- Rapid response on hot topics, emerging science and latest studies

Learn More About Our GFF Scientific Advisory Board Experts by Clicking Here

Trusted Voices and Third-Party Engagement

- Impactful social and digital media content, driving visibility and impact and available for you to share
- Ongoing media relations driving proactive dialogue around positive grain foods messaging in industry and consumer media
- Grain Foods Champions – our team of influential Registered Dietitians who share grains-positive messages in social media and to stakeholder audiences

For more information or to support GFF, visit GrainFoodsFoundation.org